III. ACADEMIC INFORMATION

(To be completed only by the academic dean or the graduate program director)

Federal regulations permit F-1 students to apply for limited periods of "Curricular Practical Training" (CPT) prior to completion of a course of study. Each application must be accompanied by an employer's offer, an academic official's certification (see below) and must meet the following criteria: the proposed employment must be an integral part of the student's academic program for which the student will earn academic credit that specifically counts towards his or her degree requirements.

Federal regulations require a "Designated School Official" (international student adviser) in the Center for Global Services to certify under penalty of perjury a student's eligibility for employment authorization. The international student adviser's certification is based on the information provided below. We therefore rely upon your careful evaluation of the student's employment letter and all of the curricular information provided below.
